Title: SEO Reports, Website Ranking Reports and Organic Keyword Research by UriTrends

Description: UriTrends is a service that helps you track your marketing, perform competitive intelligence and get the data you need to make better domain purchases...

Online Since: December 16th, 2004 (3 years and 10 months)

Quick Summary:

Google PageRank: 4/10
Alexa Traffic Rank: 190,868

Incoming Google Links: 1,280
Incoming Yahoo Links: 337,690
Incoming MSN Links: 46,312

Since we can get it directly from them, we estimate that MSN Live Search's incoming links value is around 46,312 based upon looking at over 6.5 million points of data that we gathered before they disabled the ability to get the value.

Overall Incoming Links: 437,484 (Overlap is possible - Estimated 221,820 unique links)

Outgoing Links: 25 (Ratio: 51.200% - Each Link Receives Approx. 0.136 PR)

Link Popularity:

General Link Popularity Information

From Wikipedia: "Link popularity is a measure of the quantity and quality of other web sites that link to a specific site on the World Wide Web". Wikipedia also says, "Link popularity plays an important role in the visibility of a web site among the top of the search results." In addition to being used to determine how well the site is doing, link popularity is also a measure used in the Google PageRank algorithm. By getting people to link to your sites you are showing search engines that your content is worthy of linking to and that because people are linking to you you are letting the search engines know that your page can be trusted to be shown in the search engine results pages because you have a quality page. Google PageRank is factored into those results too and will effect where you are in the results. Google PageRank is "passed" to you each time a quality link is found by google. A quality link is usually one that is from another site that also has a good PageRank. See Wikipedia for more information about Link Popularity and Google PageRank

This Site's Link Popularity Information

Google is reporting that this site is currently below average. This site only has 1,280 incoming links.

While Yahoo! is reporting more, they should, for the most part, be considered relative to each other. Yahoo! reports nearly every link that they find, while Google filters out all of the less than perfect links and only displays the best ones.

Based off of the averages for Yahoo!, Yahoo! is reporting that this site currently has around 10 times the number of links then that of the average site. While it can always be better, this site is doing very good. The average number of links that we were monitoring on October 16th, 2008 was 32,389 and this site has 337,690 links.

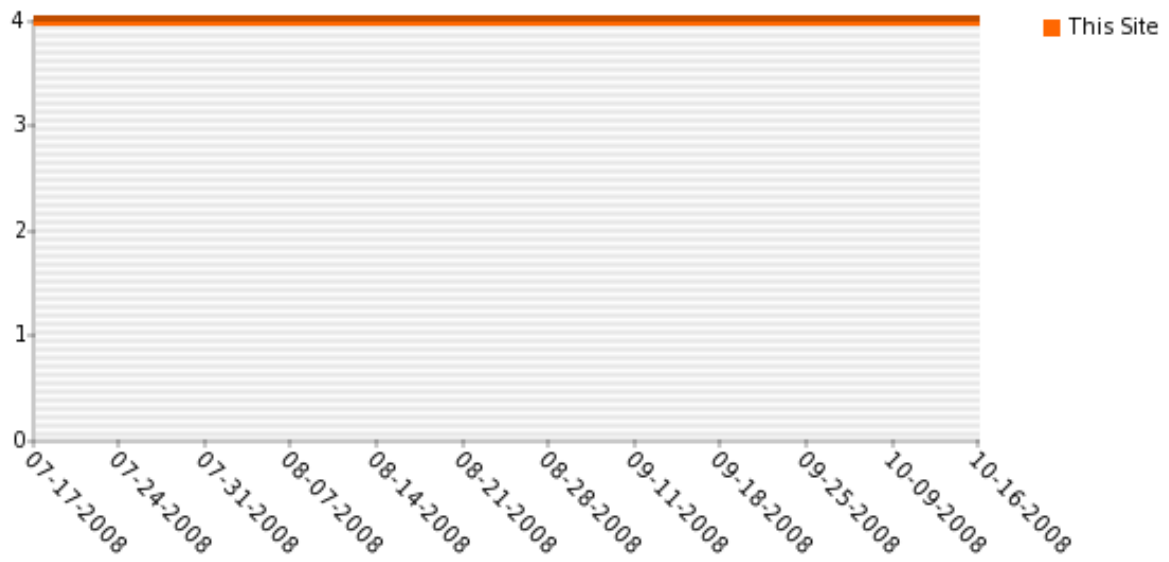

MSN is the final search engine in the "Big 3". And like Google and Yahoo!, they should not be forgotten. MSN does have a much smaller market share than Google or Yahoo!, but they do still have between 13 and 15 percent market share, depending on which source you use. That comes to around 860 Million searches a month. Unfortunately, unlike Google and Yahoo!, MSN Live Search no longer provides a method for users to obtain link popularity from their search data.

The following keywords and phrases are the what Yahoo! believes are the most important terms on <http://www.urltrends.com>. They were extracted from the content on <http://www.urltrends.com> by Yahoo!.

<http://www.urltrends.com> does not have enough important textual content, or Yahoo! did not feel any of terms were important.

This means that the site is severely under optimized and can benefit significantly by adding textual content that is spiderable and has related terms used throughout the copy.
